

Bible Study Resources

Bible Gateway <http://www.biblegateway.com>

- Multiple versions, many with audio
- Commentaries available

Bible History Online <http://www.bible-history.com>

- Good source of maps (see NT maps section)

Biblos.com <http://biblos.com>

- Multiple versions
- Several other tools including atlas, dictionary, encyclopedia, concordances (with links to lexicons)

Blue-Letter Bible

<http://www.blueletterbible.org/search.cfm>

- Multiple versions
- LexiConc and Strong's Concordance
- Institute: <https://www.blbi.org>

Got Questions <http://www.gotquestions.org>

Open Bible (Topical Search) <http://www.openbible.info>

Bible Apps (Android)

- Bible (You Version), Bible Offline
- MySword (Bible & Lexicon)

How to get the most out of the study

- Try to read the passages in at least a couple of different versions
- Avoid reading commentaries on your first pass!
- Journal about three things that stood out to you each week – new insights, meaningful passages, word studies, etc.
- Use a lexicon for especially words/phrases that speak to you – you'll be surprised at some of the deeper meanings you can find!
- Teachings will be posted on my website at www.thetroups.net/sandi ; also Facebook: Njia Nyembamba

Translation Comparison Chart

